PTA Speaker Says Nation Will Meet Teaching Challenge

Dr. Dykhous of
SIU Addresses
Harrisburg Council

Dr. Claude Dykhous, associate professor of education at Southern Illinois University, in a PTA Founders Day address by the Harrisburg council at the Junior high school Monday night, stated his belief that this country will produce scientists to meet the challenge of the "Sputnik Age." Also, he said, by continuing to raise the level of all teaching, it will maintain a balanced educational program which will be stronger for developing needed philosophers, ministers, artists and workers in relative fields.

He added that some of our best teaching minds have been drained off from the teaching field because of the higher wages paid by industry. It is true that there is a shortage of science teachers, he said, but it is also true that one student out of seven in the colleges today, is an engineering student. Dr. Dykhous stated we can promote science with simple, safe experiments in the elementary schools and that this program, coupled with the study of natural sciences and field trips into industries, will produce all the scientists needed based on a natural curiosity led in this way into becoming a lasting interest.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Glen Daugherty, Russell Malan, superintendent of the city schools, introduced Dr. Dykhous who delivered his address on "The Sputnik Age Curriculum."

The Harrisburg city school band under the direction of W. W. Chunn played a concert of three selections including excerpts from Overtures by Mozart. No better confirmation could have been given for Dr. Dykhous' faith in the benefits of the teaching of the fine arts and music programs in our schools.

Mrs. Wendell Bramlet, former district director, presented past president pins to council unit presidents: Wendell King, McKinley school; Mrs. Morris Skaggs, Horace Mann; Mrs. Noble Mitchell, Logan; Mrs. Ardel Hamilton, Bayliss; Paul Kimbro, Dorris Heights; and Mrs. Dorman Glass, Dorrisville school. She announced that Brose Phillips, Dorrisville, has been awarded a lifetime membership to the Illinois Congress of P.T.A. and expressed regret that Mr. Phillips was prevented from being present at the meeting. Mrs. Noble Mitchell accepted the attendance banner for Logan school.

Mrs. J. Crawford Wilson, president of the Harrisburg council, presided at the meeting and introduced Mrs. Guy Garrison, director of District 30.

Mrs. Crawford invited the members and guests to have refreshments in the cafeteria at the close of the program.

The meeting was well attended and ushers were Juanita Jenkins, Betty Stone, Thelma Goolsby, Opal Howard, Frankie Hamilton, Robert Anderson, Donald Collins and Ronald McDermott.

Then I made the remark that Herrin sure was fortunate to have industry.

Then came the point of this whole story. The former Herrin man said "Yes, Herrin is lucky. But just remember, the people there didn't get the first industry they tried for. There were many setbacks, but the community didn't quit. Finally a manufacturing firm was found on coming to Herrin."

"And I sure hope that the people in Harrisburg and surrounding towns don't get discouraged if the rubber plant fails to come here. Of course it will be disappointing, but everyone should knuckle down and try harder for something else. That's what the Herrin people did and it paid off."

I think he expressed what others have been thinking. If the rubber plant doesn't come to Harrisburg it will be such a letdown that it may take a long time to get the spirit and cooperation at a high level again.

But let us remember Herrin. We all think that city is fortunate—and it is—to have industry. But it didn't come on the first effort.

Cost of Living Sets New High Mark in January

Main Factor Is High Prices for Fruits, Vegetables

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living jumped 6 of 1 per cent in January to set a new record, the government reported today.

The main factor in the general increase was record high prices for fruit and vegetables caused by freezing and rainy weather which ruined southern crops.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its consumer price index hit 122.3 per cent of 1947-49 prices. This was 3.5 per cent higher than a year ago.

It was the 15th time in 17 months that the index climbed to a record peak. This was the largest monthly increase since a 7 of 1 per cent rise in July, 1956.

Higher Meat Prices

The latest advance was disclosed as economists predicted five million Americans would be out of work this month.

Evan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said the price of all meats, from hamburger to rib roast, increased 4 per cent in January because of reduced livestock marketing.

Food prices generally were up 1.8 per cent, reflecting sharp rises in the price of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The rise in the index meant pay boosts for 1,350,000 workers whose wages are tied to the cost of living.

Clague said about one million auto workers would get 3 cents an hour pay boosts while 350,000 others in the aircraft, farm equipment, and electrical machinery industries would get about 2 cents an hour more. The wage boosts will take effect March 1.

Clague said the next few months "don't promise much in the way of lower prices." He said the index has not yet felt the full effect of the crop-destruction freeze.

Joblessness Reaching "Plateau" But he said the price of such raw materials as wool, leather, lumber, rubber, and metals is declining in wholesale markets.

These reductions should be felt by the consumer in the form of lower prices some time this summer or fall, Clague predicted. By that time, he said, the shortage of fruits, vegetables, and meat should be alleviated by summer crops and more slaughtering of livestock.

Meanwhile Labor Department economists said there were some signs the rise in jobless totals was "reaching a plateau." They said the rate of increase in the number of workers drawing unemployment benefits is "slowing up substantially."

53rd Anniversary of Rotary Observed By Local Club; Past Presidents Honored

Harrisburg was linked yesterday with 9,700 other cities and towns on six continents as the Rotary club commemorated the 53rd anniversary of the founding of Rotary. The birthday of this worldwide fellowship of business and professional executives was celebrated by the local club at its meeting held at Santy's dining room Monday at noon.

In observance of the anniversary the past presidents of the local club were invited to attend the weekly meeting yesterday and they were introduced to the club by president C. R. Gardner. Past presidents attending were: Tom Gregg, F. N. Russler, Dr. William J. Blackard, Russell Malan, Louie Beltz, George Davenport, Lowden Pankey and John Foster. Short talks were made by George Davenport, Tom Gregg, F. N. Russler and Dr. W. J. Blackard on the history of the local club. It was pointed out that the Harrisburg

Rotary club holds the record of establishing more clubs than any other club. The life of Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, and the establishment of the Rotary organization was discussed by Dr. Blackard. In tracing the growth of Rotary, Dr. Blackard said: "The first Rotary club was organized in Chicago on February 23, 1905 by Paul P. Harris, a young lawyer, who suggested the idea to a group of his friends. The name 'Rotary' was selected because the first meetings of the club were held in rotation, in the offices of its members. The Rotary ideals of fellowship and service to others soon spread from city to city in the U.S.A. and Canada and then crossed the oceans to every continent."

The club welcomed as guests Les Dauby of Du Quoin, Jack Large of Galatia and N. E. Har-

SPEAKS AT DINNER—Former President Harry S. Truman (right) whispers to Adlai Stevenson during a reception preceding a $100-a-plate dinner in Washington. ## Truman Asks Congress Not to 'Emasculate' Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman urged the Democratic Congress today not to "emasculate" President Eisenhower's proposed four-billion-dollar foreign aid program. He said aid and spending should be increased.

Truman said foreign aid is "absolutely vital" to American defense and to keeping "countless millions" out of the Communist orbit.

The former Democratic President spoke at a daylong rally in support of the foreign aid program organized at Eisenhower's request. Other speakers included Adlai Stevenson, 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential nominee, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. Eisenhower will address the conference tonight.

Truman said that "partisan politics ought to stop at the water's edge" in considering foreign aid. The program is facing strong opposition in the Democratic-controlled Congress.

"Don't Scuttle the Ship" But Truman could not resist a seeming injection of politics into his appeal for support of the Eisenhower administration's new foreign aid budget.

Noting that many people criticize foreign aid on grounds that it is badly administered, the ex-President said: "From where I sit, it looks as if a lot of things are now being administered badly. But you can't abolish the government on that account. . . . Don't scuttle the ship just to stop the leaks."

Truman said he understands the mutual security program is in "grave danger of being emasculated by the Congress." If that is so, he said, the country is in a "very bad fix."

Stevenson suggested in his speech that Russia be invited to join the United States and other Western nations in coordinated aid programs for underdeveloped nations.

"An Essential Weapon" "If the Soviets are not interested in joining our international effort, such an offer would at least unmask the motives behind their assistance programs," he said. McElroy told the conference that a slackening of foreign aid would be "highly dangerous" to U. S. defense.

The conference was organized at the President's request by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Assn. About 1,300 leaders in all walks of American life attended.

In an opening address to the conference, Dulles said the four-billion-dollar-a-year program is vital to thwart the Soviet effort to "dominate the world."

He warned that the "ultimate undoing of the United States itself" is the goal of Communist military and economic policy and called on Americans to hurl a "dynamic counter challenge" to communism in order to "bring the lessons of liberty to all men everywhere."

Stevenson criticized some features of the aid program but said he wholeheartedly supports foreign aid as "an essential weapon in the armory of American diplomacy and an essential tool for accomplishing America's peaceful purposes."

Mt. Vernon Youth Damages Own, Father's Autos

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—All left turns were had turns for an 18-year-old Mount Vernon driver Monday.

The youth, Clyde Lipe, was ticketed for having faulty brakes after his car rammed into the rear of another that had stopped while waiting to make a left turn. Damage was estimated at $450 to Lipe's car.

Two hours later he borrowed his father's car and started to pass a truck near Mount Vernon as the truck was making a left turn. State police ticketed young Lipe for improper passing. His father's car was demolished, and a passenger, Sandra Lindeman, 16, Mount Vernon, was hospitalized.

Six Killed, 31 Hurt in Race

Rebels Free Ace

HAVANA (AP)—Kidnaped auto ace Juan M. Fangio was released late Monday night, hours after the race in which rebel gunmen ended his taking part ended in tragic death for at least four persons and injury to 31.

Fangio, who is an Argentine, arrived at the residence of his country's ambassador in suburban Miramar at 1:45 a. m. e. st. today.

Ambassador Raul Lynch drove his own hardtop convertible to a secret rendezvous in Havana's suburbs to pick up Fangio when he was released by the kidnapers.

Cuban authorities assigned more than 50 police and two prowler cars to the embassy, in addition to its own four watchmen, to assure that the Argentine racer is not molested again during his stay here.

"It was a most polite and luxurious kidnap," Fangio said. "My captors kept apologizing to me, and they served me breakfast in bed."

"They offered me a portable radio to listen to the Grand Prix, but I turned it down. However, when they told me there had been an accident, I went into another room to watch it on TV. It was terrible."

The race driver said a pistol-packing rebel had herded him out of the lobby of the Lincoln Hotel at gunpoint and forced him into a car where two other men were waiting. Two more men joined the party.

They drove him first to one house, where they stayed 10 to 15 minutes, then to another where they spent about half an hour, and finally to the third house where he was held for more than a day.

Facilities Were Good Along the way, they changed cars once.

"My captors were apologetic and respectful," he said. "They kept saying, 'we are sorry to do this to you, but it's necessary to our cause.'"

"They gave me a room to myself—although I suppose there was a guard outside—and I slept from midnight to about eight. They served me coffee in bed when I awoke, and later on brought in a complete breakfast."

"The facilities were as good as my suite at the hotel."

The Grand Prix auto race, which Fangio had been favored to win, was called off hours after he had been snatched when a Ferrari driven by Cuban Armando Garcia Cifuentes crashed into a wooden over-

Still Struggle Ahead But County Is Back In Picture After Talks

The Dayton Rubber Co. will reconsider the Saline county site for a new v-belt plant to be constructed in the midwest, it was strongly indicated by a member of the board of directors after a local delegation went before the board yesterday afternoon to sell the area.

B. G. McCloud, vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago and a Dayton Rubber Co. director, told a Daily Register reporter at Dayton Municipal Airport following the board meeting:

"Your boys made a very good impression and I'm sure your site will get a second look."

"It was the best presentation I have ever heard," he continued. "All four were remarkable. Board to Meet Again."

"The board got so interested in hearing their story and asking them questions that instead of the half-hour the group had been allotted, the delegation was in the board meeting for about an hour."

He said that apparently the Saline county site was completely out of the picture until the group told its story to the board. The

The illness now has made Churchill's travel plans doubtful. He is not expected to leave the sunny Riviera for rainy, chilly Britain for at least another two weeks.

Churchill's physicians would like him to take it easy for some time after he has completely recovered from the twin ailments. They believed a transatlantic trip might be too exhausting even for the "old warrior" although he certainly would make every effort to go.

Miss Norma Jean Butler, Theodore James Hebner Wed at McKinley Baptist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore James Hebner (Ronnie's Studio Photo)

Miss Norma Jean Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Butler, 615 West Sloan street Harrisburg, and Theodore James Hebner, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hebner, Tremont, were married at 3 o'clock Feb. 16 in the McKinley Avenue Baptist church. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. W. Childers, former pastor of the church, now a resident of Murphysboro, before the altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and greenery on either side of a white bridal arch.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length wedding gown of imported Chantilly lace and tulle over satin, closed in the back with tiny covered buttons. The fitted lace bodice was fashioned with a deep yoke bearing a necklace band of lace and long tapered sleeves, pointed at the hands. The bouffant skirt of tulle had wide panels of the lace falling from a lace pelum, both back and front. Her elbow length veil of illusion was secured to a lace cap trimmed with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade of bouquet of white roses and chrysanthemums.

Miss Darlene Jarrell, cousin of the bride, was her maid of honor and wore a ballerina length dress of orchid chiffon with a matching headband and small veil. Her bouquet was of orchid and white pom-poms.

Ronald N. Lee, Champaign, fraternity brother of the bridegroom, acted as his best man.

Ushers were: Roy Morley, Pekin, close friend of the bridegroom; Frederick Rapp, Tremont, cousin of the bridegroom; J. C. Henderson and James Black, uncles of the bride.

Miss Dorothy Hanning, accompanied by the organist, Miss Nancy Fulkerson, sang "Because," "Walk Hand in Hand" and the "Lord's Prayer."

The mother of the bride wore a navy blue ensemble with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The aunt of the bridegroom chose for his wedding a blue dress with blue and white accessories and wore a white carnation corsage. Mr. Hebner's parents are deceased and his home has been with this uncle and aunt.

There was a reception immediately following the wedding in the church dining hall where the bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake supporting a miniature bride and groom and surrounded by blue pom-poms. Crystal punch bowls served the guests from either end of the table. Hostesses were:

Mrs. Fleeta Landis, Pekin, aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. Betty Black, Mrs. Winona Alvey and Mrs. Georgia Jarrell, aunts of the bride; Miss Judie Paris, college friend, kept the guest register.

The bride has finished two years at the University of Illinois.

Mr. Hebner is a graduate of the University of Illinois college of Agriculture and Engineering and has a Bachelor of Science degree. He is presently a research engineer in the Caterpillar Co. at Peoria.

Prof. Wm. Marbury of STU Speaks On Gardens at Woman's Club

Prof. William Marbury, Carbondale, faculty member at SIU, spoke to the Harrisburg Woman's club at its "Gardens" meeting Monday. Mrs. Nellie Meyers program chairman for the meeting, introduced the speaker and his color slide illustrated lecture won the interest and admiration of the group.

The meeting was well attended and Mrs. W. W. Damron presided. She has been out of the city for the past few meetings and was warmly welcomed home. Mrs. L. B. Kimmel presented the meditation and Mrs. L. N. Davenport sang appropriate garden songs including the loved "Garden of Gethsemane."

The regular business of the club was transacted at the business meeting following the program and a motion was made by Mrs. Davenport, seconded and carried, to endorse the nomination of Mrs. Roy Milburn, New Burnside, for Illinois Mother of the Year. The Vienna Woman's club has already endorsed Mrs. Milburn's nomination and the Eldorado Woman's club will vote on a similar motion Tuesday evening.

Other business of the meeting was the appointment by the president of the nominating committee as follows: Mrs. L. I. Webb chairman, Mrs. J. J. Klein and Mrs. Stanley Wilson, members. Mrs. Damron expressed her pleasure and appreciation for the club, at the honor of having one of its members, Mrs. J. L. Miller invited to be a candidate for vice-president of the Southern Region, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. This region includes districts 22, 23 and 24, and the election will be held at the convention in May.

Prof. Marbury based his speech on his experiences during World War 2 when he was stationed in the South Pacific, India and China and had the opportunity to study many fine gardens, ancient and modern, in those places. He also used slides and spoke of experiences with gardens in England, France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Denmark, Holland and his own home gardens in Carbondale.

He illustrated how each country is influenced by climate, customs and historical heritage in its selections of flowers and trees and the formality or casualness of its garden arrangements. For example, the informal cottage gardens so familiar to the English and at the other end of the scale, the old established estate gardens with broad grass lawns and gardens planted to a width of near 100 feet.

The French and Italian gardens are profusely formal with statuary among trim hedges and deeply shaded pathways. The use of fountains, also common to the Spanish gardens, were also cited.

He seemed to dwell on the colorful tulip gardens of the Holland lowlands, admiring the profusion of bulb plantings and the neatness of the gardens and the homes they beautify. The friendliness of the people of Holland and Denmark were a happy memory of his trip.

Finally he showed his own garden and illustrated the simplicity that he has used around his own home. Restraint in planting and taste in selection of appropriate flowers and shrubs accentuated by the boxwood borders, just beginning to show their potential and wistaria and the satisfying petunias, to name a few.

There was a real feeling of inspiration to improve home gardens and reach out for a community improvement, expressed by the members at the close of the lecture. Prof. Marbury answered questions and offered his help in the development of any project that will improve Harrisburg. He stated that Carbondale also has problems and that he is glad for any project that will serve southern Illinois.

Mrs. Lloyd Reynolds and her son-in-law, George Bond, went to Noel, Mo., last week to accompany back to Harrisburg, C. A. Upchurch, father of Mrs. Reynolds. He has been with a son, Gilbert, at Noel for several months and formerly lived on a farm near Raleigh.

Mrs. Chas. Smith, 1302 South Webster street, fell today and sprained a ligament in her right leg, which will confine her to bed for several days.

Your Income Tax

Casualty and Theft Loss Deductions

H. J. White, Director of the Internal Revenue Service for this district today explained the rules for deducting casualty and theft losses on individual income tax returns for 1957.

If you itemize deductions on page 2 of Form 1040, you can deduct losses of your personal property resulting from a fire, storm, flood, automobile accident, hurricane, or other similar event. You can also deduct losses of money or other personal property due to theft in the year of discovery, but you may not deduct losses due to losing or mislaying articles.

A deductible casualty loss can result from complete or partial destruction of property but generally speaking, must result from an identifiable event of a sudden, unexpected, or unusual nature. Damage to your own car resulting from a collision or accident can be deducted only if not due to your willful negligence or willful act. You cannot deduct amounts you pay for damage to the owner of another car with which you may have collided.

On personal, nonbusiness property, the amount of loss to be deducted is the difference between the value of the property just before the casualty and the value just after. The deductible loss can be no more than the cost of the property and must be reduced by any insurance or other compensation received. You may not deduct the cost of repairing, replacing or cleaning up after the casualty. However, if the repairs do no more than restore the property to its condition immediately before the casualty, and do not add to its value, utility, or useful life, such repair costs may be used as a measure of the decrease in value.

You should attach a statement to your return giving the details on any deduction taken for casualty or theft loss.

Some of the loss items for which you cannot claim a deduction are: Personal injury to yourself or another person; Accidental loss of cash or other personal property;

Damage due to rust or gradual erosion;

Animals or plants damaged or destroyed by disease;

Property lost in storage or in transit.

Mr. White advised taxpayers who have questions regarding deductions for casualty or theft losses or any other matter on their Federal income tax return for 1957 to telephone or visit the local office of the Internal Revenue Service. The local office may be reached by telephone 3-7993. The address of the local office is 111½ North Main, Harrisburg.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS YOUNG—People repair roofs every day, but few women of 75 clamber about on the slick surface of a housetop. For Mrs. Verdie Scott, above, of Midland, Tex., doing her own repairs is nothing new. She is a licensed plumber and does electrical work. These skills were developed through necessity. During World War II, Mrs. Scott and her late husband operated a tourist court. Mr. Scott was in bad health and they couldn't get help, so Mrs. Scott took on the patch-up chores. She's been doing her own carpentry, plumbing and electrical work ever since. With that mouthful of nails she looks like a professional carpenter.

The Last Sundown

By L. P. HOLMES

Short of midday, Ward Sebastian and Sam Lester brought their pack string in at Henry Gallatin's ranch. The place was jammed with troops, furious with activity. Supply wagons that had creaked their way in from Yreka, or down from Fort Klamath and Linkville, were parked in tired lines, some empty, some being unloaded.

A troop of the First Cavalry, hard-bitten, hard-riding, just in from Fort Bidwell over past the Warner Mountains, were setting up a picket line. Army mules and horses were eating deep into Henry Gallatin's supply of winter hay.

Leaving Sam Lester to hold back the pack string, Ward Sebastian went ahead and sought out the grizzled, stocky, stern-eyed owner of the ranch. To Sebastian's question, Henry Gallatin nodded.

"Bill Wiggin is waiting for you at Vinegar Spring. Too much fuss going on around here to suit him. He's anxious for the supplies for Homer Shadworth."

"I got them for him," Sebastian considered the military activity all around about, then added soberly, "What do you make of it, Henry?"

Gallatin shrugged. "I don't like it. But there is nothing I can do about it. They go to do what Washington tells them to do. Colonel Wheaton—he's in command right now—is a good man. But he's not enjoying the chore ahead one bit."

Sebastian stirred restlessly. "How far back does Modoc tribal history run, Henry? Far older than either of us might guess, probably. Yet here, right before our eyes, the beginning of the end is shaping up. Kentipoo and his people won't go without a struggle. They'll fight like demons—but hopelessly. The fact scares me and in no way bolsters my faith in humanity."

At the waiting pack string he found Sam Lester scowling. "Ward, you notice them fellows who just rode in?"

Sebastian shook his head. "What about them?"

"Ten or a dozen in the bunch. More of them so-called civilian volunteers who just ain't happy unless they're out trying to shoot themselves another poor squaw or some old warrior plumb past his fighting age. Same breed as was in on that Desolation Flat affair."

Sam spat in disgust. "Know any of them?" asked Sebastian. "One. Yancey McCloud."

Sebastian considered this soberly, lips tightening.

Dawn, Jan. 17, 1873. Bugles shrilling, sounding thin and drained through the smother of fog.

Henry Gallatin, muffled to the eyes in a long, blanket-lined coat, moved about in the vague morning light, taking care of what few chores he could under the handicap of the military tangle all about him.

Flood Threats Follow Storm On West Coast

By United Press

Severe flooding threatened along major northern California rivers today in the wake of gale force winds and torrential rains that battered the West Coast.

Generally mild weather prevailed in the East, meanwhile as the pattern of winter weather violence switched from the East to the West.

At least two deaths by drowning were blamed on Monday's storm in California, and residents in a dozen areas were forced to evacuate their homes due to floodwaters.

The storm pounded northern California with up to a five-inch deluge of rain. Wind gusts occasionally exceeding 60 miles an hour buffeted the San Francisco area.

A forecast of clearing weather today brought hopes of easing flood threats along rain sodden levees of the Sacramento River south of Red Bluff; the Feather River near Oroville; the Feather and Yuba confluence at Marysville and Yuba City; the Russian River in Sonoma County, the Eel and Trinity Rivers in the north west and the San Lorenzo River in Santa Cruz County.

The golden dome of the California state Capitol building at Sacramento spilling a leak from the pounding of the rain, and the high winds tore down power and telephone lines in many areas including San Francisco.

In Oakland, two $50,000 homes sliding down a washed-out cliff were demolished by a wrecking crew and a six-unit apartment house below the sliding hill was menaced.

Further north, floodwaters covered the streets of Seattle, Wash., during the storm and some basements were flooded.

Texas also was plagued by floodwaters which have claimed at least 14 lives since the weekend, 4 in drownings and 10 in traffic accidents on rain soaked highways.

Fisher had been forced to miss rehearsal for his show. The boy was born shortly after noon. The couple has a daughter, Carrie Frances 1.

WASHINGTON — Tom Dreyer, 11, turned up a winner today in more ways than one.

First he won out over 13,000 other youngsters in a poster contest sponsored by the Illinois Agriculture Assn.

Then the boy, a fifth grade pupil at the Steeleville School in Randolph County, Ill., sat beside Vice President Richard M. Nixon at the head table of the National Food Conference's "Land of Plenty" breakfast.

Three hours after the breakfast, President Eisenhower arrived. Tom, still at the head table, presented the poster to the President. He got another hand shake and a big smile.

Tom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dreyer, also shook hands with Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson.

Tom's poster was captioned: "The Take-Off Is Important—Make Yours Right With A Good Breakfast."

$400,000 Fire Burns School

PAWNEE, Ill. — Loss was estimated at $400,000 today in a fire that destroyed the Pawnee High School south of here Monday night.

The high school was built in 1923 after an older building was destroyed by fire when hit by lightning.

The fire was discovered about 9:30 p. m. Monday and an hour later only the walls of the three-story brick structure were still standing.

An investigation was started to determine the cause of the blaze, which apparently started in the manual training classroom.

The fire lit up the skies around Pawnee, which is south of Springfield, and drew hundreds of spectators who were traveling along U. S. 66.

Firemen from Tovey Bulpitt, Kiacaia, Auburn and Davenport helped the Pawnee department fight the fire.

The fire did not harm a new $325,000 grade school building which is 100 yards from the high school.

The high school enrollment totals about 160 students. School officials said the loss was covered by insurance.

Are you a hero to your family?

when it comes to supplying them with cash

As the man who brings home the bacon, you may think you've won your hero's medals already. But if you want the everlasting respect of your entire household, show them you know a thing or two about managing money as well as making it. Let them see you aren't exactly blind to the possibility of earning extra income through a few well-planned investments. Here's how the conversation might go:

Your wife: Why do so many people own stocks?

You: Perfectly simple. When you own stock you become part-owner of a company and you share in any profits that may be paid as dividends. If the company grows, your money may grow, too. Or you can buy bonds and be paid interest. Either way your money has a chance to earn more money for you.

Your son: If I want to buy some stocks, where do I go... to the Stock Exchange?

You: No. You drop around to a local Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange here in town. They place your order for you through their representative on the floor of the Exchange, who finds a seller when you want to buy, a buyer when you want to sell.

Your wife: Doesn't it take scads of money?

You: Not a lot of money... but a lot of common sense. Two out of three shareholders nowadays have incomes under $7500 a year. But stocks don't always pay dividends and their prices go down as well as up. Smart people always get the facts and steer clear of tips or rumors. And of course nobody should invest before being sure the bills are paid and there's money for family emergencies.

Your wife: Well, then, why don't we own securities?

You: I was just coming to that. As a matter of fact, I have a little booklet here called "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS," that gives the record of more than 300 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange, that have paid dividends every year from 25 years to more than a century. Maybe you'd like to look it over because it tells about a pay-as-you-go Monthly Investment Plan that would allow us to invest as little as $40 every three months up to $1000 a month.

Your wife: Hmmm!

At this point you can safely pause to let your information sink in. And sometime soon you can drop in at your nearest broker—making sure he's with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. He'll help you plan investments in line with what you want to spend. He may recommend stocks or bonds or both. And he'll be glad to give you your free copy of "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS" if you haven't already read it. Or mail this coupon now.

Chairman Says FCC Probers Have Uncovered 'Very Bad Situation'

WASHINGTON — Chairman Owen Harris said today his House subcommittee investigating the Federal Communications Commission has uncovered a "very bad situation" which conceivably could result in jail sentences for some persons.

Harris made the statement after Thurman A. Whiteside, Miami attorney, had testified about a complicated financial relationship between himself and Richard A. Mack of the Federal Communications Commission.

Harris indicated that Mack may have violated the law by being part-owner of a Miami agency which has sold insurance to television stations in Miami.

The Federal Communications Act specifically forbids any FCC members from being "financially interested... in any company furnishing services or... apparatus to any company engaged in communication by wire or radio."

Whiteside disclosed that Mack within the last five months has received $2,000 in income from the Stembly-Shelden insurance agency of Miami.

One of the insurance agency's clients was the National Airlines TV station, successful applicant before the FCC for the hotly con-according to the man I talked to Sunday.

If on the first one we don't succeed, let's all try and try again.

Received a letter from Mrs. Freeman Motesinger last week. The Motesingers from Carrier Mills have been spending some time in Lake Worth, Fla., as they have done for the past several winters.

Mrs. Motesinger says in part "... It has been a bad winter for here, but much more pleasant than if we had been home. This is a nice sunny day... Driving along the street today we saw marigolds, nasturtiums and tropical flowers in bloom."

A clipping from the Miami Herald of Feb. 16 was included in the letter. The writer stated that south Florida was one of the brightest and warmest places in the nation. He states, "True, we've had frost in Miami this month. But what about the sunny days we've had? Perhaps things are not so bad as we keep telling ourselves."

The Motesingers will arrive at their home in Carrier Mills sometime this week.

The recent moderate weather has some drawbacks apparently. Mrs. Arthur Evans reported Monday they had lost two 150-pound shoats by drowning. The young pigs, accustomed to walking on the ice the past week ventured out Sunday afternoon on a pond back of the Evans' residence on Route 13 west of Harrisburg. The ice was too thin to hold their weight, the pigs fell through and were drowned.

Sen. Byrd Changes Mind, Decides to Seek Re-Election

WASHINGTON — Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) reversed himself today and decided to run for re-election in November.

Just two weeks after he had announced that he would not seek another Senate term, Byrd yielded to appeals from Democratic leaders and the General Assembly in his home state.

In his original announcement, the 70-year-old Virginian said that six years ago he had promised his wife, now an invalid, that he would not run for another term. However, Mrs. Byrd was said to have acquiesced in her husband's decision to seek re-election.

Byrd has long been the leading economy advocate in the Senate. He is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which passed or all fiscal policies.

Indonesia Rebels Buy Planes to Challenge Gov't

SINGAPORE (UP) — The rebel Indonesian regime today was reported buying planes to challenge the air force of President Sukarno's government.

Del Alwi, a spokesman for the Central Sumatra revolutionary regime, said in Manila that a "strong counterattack" will be launched by the rebels against the Jakarta government "in the near future."

Reports from Jakarta said Prime Minister Djuanda met Monday night for nearly three hours with the chiefs of staff of the three military services. The official Indonesian news agency Antara said it was believed the talks dealt with "further action" against the rebels.

Sukarno has warned that all measures necessary will be taken to "crush" the revolutionary regime set up by the "young colonels" in Central Sumatra and North Celebes in a move to force him to oust the Communists from the central government.

A naval blockade has been established at Padang, the rebel stronghold in Central Sumatra. Indonesian Air Force planes have carried out at least three raids on rebel-held territory.

United Press correspondent William Miller reported from Manila that Alwi said the rebels are negotiating the purchase of DC-3 twin-engine aircraft "in several Asian nations" and finding no difficulty.

The spokesman said the rebels are concentrating first on procuring transport planes which could double as bombers if necessary.

United Press correspondent Robert Udick reported a steady exodus of civilians from Padang in fear of new air raids. He said an estimated one-third of the population already have left the rebel stronghold.

Purdue Shares First Place In Win Over Spartans; Hoosiers, Iowa Close Gap

CHICAGO — Michigan State and Purdue held a half-game lead over Iowa and Indiana today in a wide open stretch run for the Big Ten basketball title.

The Boilermakers moved in for a share of first place by edging the Spartans, 72-70, Monday night, clinching the key contest on Willie Merriweather's basket in the final 10 seconds.

The outcome left both contenders with 8 wins in 12 league games with 2 to play.

Iowa and Indiana also helped jam the race again. Each wound up a half-game off the pace, the Hawkeyes with an 86-78 triumph over Northwestern, and the Hoosiers by trimming Michigan, 95-88, behind Archie Dees' 27-point performance.

The top four will meet in two head-on clashes Saturday which should provide a line on the eventual winner in this closest Big Ten game race in history. Or, it may become more confusing than ever.

The Boilermakers travel to Indiana and Iowa entertains Michigan State. If the home court advantage comes through as it has the Hoosiers and Hawks will each collect their eighth victory against four losses to jointly take the lead from the current front-runners.

In remaining games, Purdue closes its campaign at Iowa March 3 and Michigan State ends its season at Indiana March 8. In addition to the Boilermakers Iowa also has Michigan on its schedule and the Hoosiers travel to Illinois.

Merriweather of Purdue, Dees of Indiana and Dave Gunther of Iowa were the top sharpshooters in leading their teams to victory but George Kline outscored them all with 38 points in helping Minnesota escape the conference cellar with a 71-63 win over Wisconsin.

Merriweather, who finished with 20 points in the Boilermakers' usual balanced attack sank a long shot from beyond the foul circle to break a 70-70 tie in the last 10 seconds. Larry Hedden got a shot for Michigan State after ward but the ball bounced off the rim and that was the game.

Dee's performance of 27 points assured him the top spot among the league's scorers. But Kline moved a point closer, boosting his average to 24.2 compared to 25.3 for Dees.

McKinnis Speaks At Meeting of Booster Club

Paul McKinnis

Paul McKinnis, Eldorado school principal and former athletic official, was the speaker at the February meeting of the Harrisburg Boosters club held Monday evening at the Masonic temple.

McKinnis, who was forced to drop officiating a couple of years ago as the result of a broken foot suffered while working at home during the summer months, told of many humorous incidents during his long career as a football and basketball official.

McKinnis began his officiating career in local high school circles, later advanced into the college field and reached the height of the profession by being accepted into the Big Ten conference where he officiated two years before an injury forced him to retire.

As a result of his Big Ten officiating McKinnis was selected by the U. S. Defense Department to tour Army installations in Europe and lecture to the troops on athletics in general and officiating in particular.

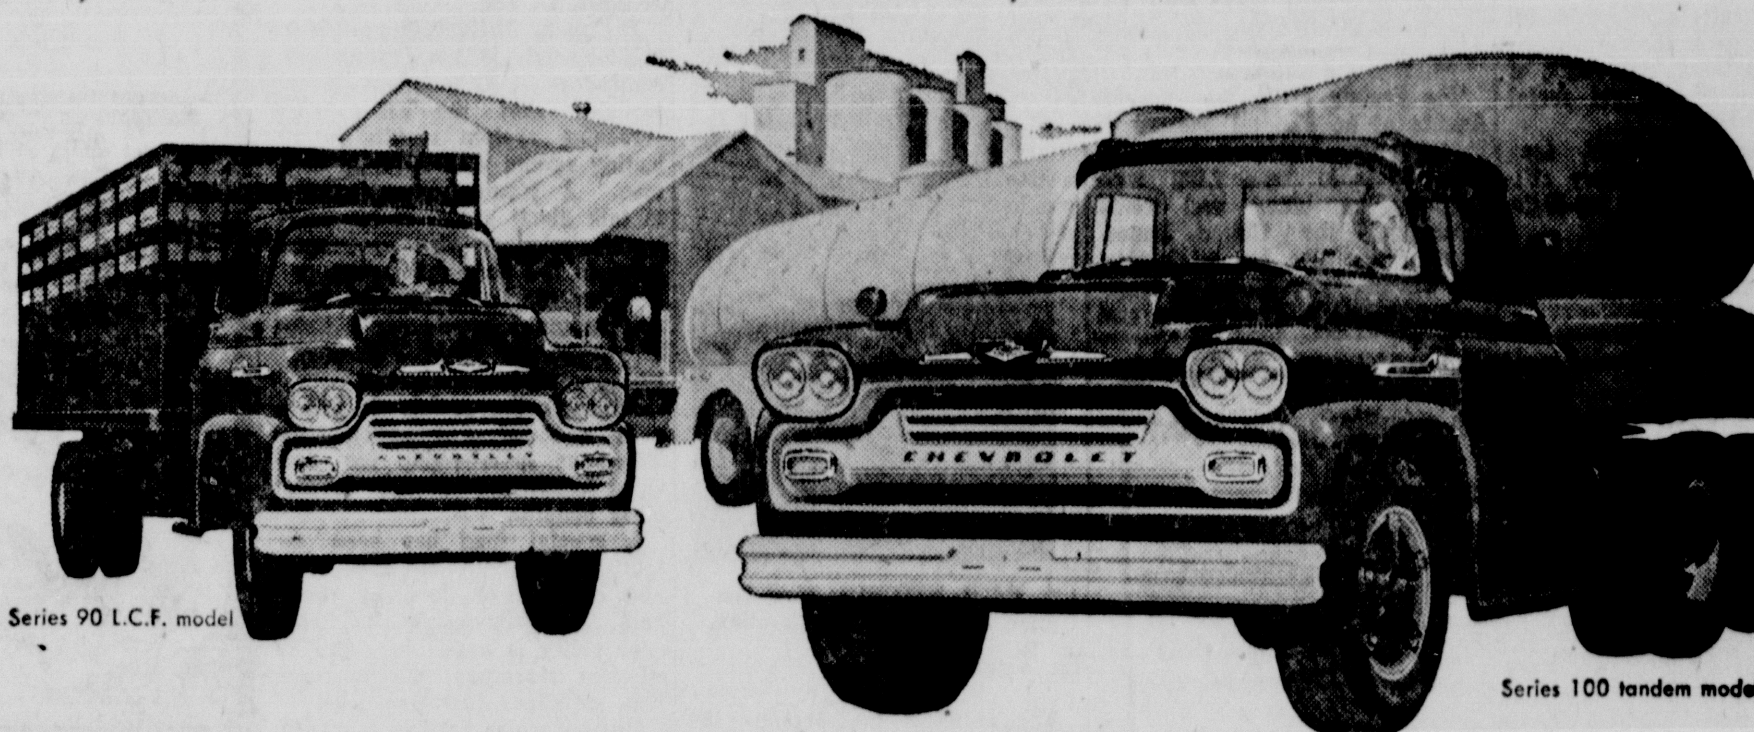

The speaker had been asked to talk about 30 minutes, but the audience enjoyed his comments to such an extent that he was prevailed upon to talk for a much longer time.

A film, "Better Basketball," also was shown to the large and enthusiastic crowd.
Harrisburg basketball coach John Dotson and his varsity squad were guests of the Boosters.
President Ed Brantley announced the March meeting speaker would be Robert Burnes, sports editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
The Boosters meet the fourth Monday in each month at the Masonic temple with the meeting opening with dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Electric, General Motors, International Business Machines, Westinghouse and Lockheed, Martin and Convair aircraft plants. Many of them credit their training and service with the FBI for the success they have achieved in their present jobs.

Charles M. Noone, distinguished attorney and president of the Washington, D. C., chapter, explains: "Serving with the FBI is probably the most liberal and concentrated course of study you could get anywhere."

He refers to the FBI's stand and policy of thoroughly studying every angle connected with a criminal case. Many times in cases involving business firms Noone explains, the investigating agent may end up knowing more about the company than its president. Thus, if these men decide to leave the FBI, they are usually highly qualified to hold down important positions in business.

Many, however, remain in law enforcement work. Some are police chiefs, military investigators and probes for top Senate and House committees. Others are private detectives. Former agent Ross V. Randolph is warden of the Illinois State Penitentiary at Menard, Ill.

The most distinguishing feature of the club is the enthusiastic comradery of its members. Noone explains that the FBI's tight screening system results in selecting agents with a lot in common. A former agent's desire to talk about some of his exciting experiences also contributes a lot to the good fellowship.

"After you leave the FBI, there are not many people who'll listen to you except other FBI guys," Noone explains.

Although the society is principally a social organization, the $10-a-year membership fee provides former agents with several other benefits.

A special fund has been established to help out the wives and children of deceased members. An inexpensive life insurance policy is available. And an efficient placement bureau helps find members lucrative jobs.

Members also receive a monthly publication with news from the different chapters.

Spencer Drayton, who as head of the Chicago office captured Roger Touhy, now is a director of the Thoroughbred Racing Association and also runs its protective bureau, which keeps turf clean of fixers and other undesirable.

Matter of FACT

The first person to publish books written for children was John Newbery. About 1750, he raised the sign "Juvenile Library" over his shop at Number 65 Saint Paul's Churchyard, London. Here he sold such books as "Goody Two Shoes," "Giles Gingerbread" and "Jack the Giant Killer."

Big business is represented by such notables as John Bugas, Ford's dynamic vice president in charge of industrial relations, and Emmett P. Dowling Jr., president of the Youngstown Steel Door Co. And the organization's annual national convention is always attended by high-paid executives from companies like General

Homer Praises Area CD Leaders At Anna Meeting

ANNA, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois civil defense leaders drew praise from Maj. Gen. John L. Homer at a meeting in Anna Sunday.

Some 200 key personnel from the lower 17 Illinois counties attended the meeting at the Anna State Hospital.

Homer, of the state civil defense headquarters in Chicago, said "This is a better crowd of informed personnel than could be found in Chicago." He cited the work of A. Frank Bridges of Carbondale, southern Illinois civil defense chief.

Homer said national civil defense exercises will be carried out during two 12-hour periods on May 6 and 7. He said $430,000 in federal funds had made possible a "state survival plan" scheduled by June 1.

Merle G. Moore, civil defense coordinator for the office of the state superintendent of public instruction, said schools are now following civil defense plans for storm warnings.

Southern Illinois University President D. W. Morris said the University has been designated as a master control center for southern Illinois. He said radio communications and 20 pieces of mobile equipment at SIU would be

Epping Gets 1-10 Year Sentence

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Circuit Judge De Witt S. Crow Monday denied a motion for a new trial for Edward A. Epping, former aide to ex-Auditor Orville E. Hodge, and sentenced him to 1-10 years.

Epping, who already is serving a 4-5 year sentence on a guilty plea to conspiracy charges in the Hodge scandal, was found guilty here Jan. 12 of forgery, embezzlement, and confidence game charges under indictments which were still pending against him.

Crow ordered the 1-10 year sentence—1-10 years on each count, to run concurrently—to begin today. Thus the minimum sentence will be up in 1959, and will permit parole consideration of the new sentence at the same time he is considered for parole on the older sentence.
